I note that you have also previously contacted us on a number of occasions and on each of these occasions we have told you that we will review all reports concerning issues with the running of a pension scheme but that we cannot confirm or deny whether we will investigate as this is restricted information under s82 Pensions Act 2004. We have also provided details of our remit, power and regulatory approach.

I can confirm that we have carefully and fully reviewed the concerns that you have raised regarding the scheme. We are of the view that there is no further assistance we can provide on these matters.

As a publicly funded body, The Pensions Regulator must ensure that we concentrate our limited resources on those schemes at greatest risk so that we can meet our statutory objectives and protect the security of member's benefits. I am aware that you have been informed that the regulator is unable to assist you and that you have raised your concerns through the UK Courts. Also, that you have sought your own legal advice to do so. We take our duties as a regulator very seriously, including our responsibilities to not release legally restricted information. However, as previously explained to you; we are unable to assist you any further at this time.

In view of this, we will not continue to correspond with you on this issue. Should you raise any new issues, or you require guidance on a different matter, then the Regulator will view this as a separate issue and respond accordingly. Should we receive any written correspondence from you it will be reviewed and filed without response unless we consider you to have raised a new issue.

I do understand your frustration in this situation however, we are unable to assist you any further for the reasons stated above.

Regards
